Venue Hire

Get your teeth into the most exciting new venue hire in the North East! Venue hire at the Great North Museum:Hancock

Be one of the first to hire the newly refurbished Great North Museum:Hancock after its incredible £26 million redevelopment.

This fantastic new venue offers an exciting alternative in which to hold your event. Whether you are organising a dinner, conference, meeting or networking event this venue provides an unforgettable experience!

Highlights of the new attraction include a life-size T-Rex dinosaur skeleton, spectacular objects from Ancient Greece and mummies from Ancient Egypt. The Great North Museum:Hancock is a major new attraction, incorporating collections from the Hancock Museum, Newcastle University's Museum of Antiquities and the Shefton Museum.

There are also major displays showing the wonder and diversity of the animal and plant kingdoms, a planetarium and a large scale interactive model of Hadrian's Wall. This exciting new venue, combining the heritage of a Victorian listed building with brand new facilities, offers fun, family friendly facilities, together with world class collections and internationally significant objects.

What spaces can I hire?

Whether you want to hire a conferencing space, somewhere for a large dinner or even an intimate meeting, the Great North Museum:Hancock has something to meet your needs. To make a real impact with your clients, why not hire the whole museum?

The ground floor offers a versatile arrangement of spaces for hire including the two Clore learning rooms, equipped with interactive whiteboards and full data projection facilities. The larger Clore learning suite opens onto a spacious patio with a raised pond and planting, providing an ideal location for summer barbecues or drinks receptions. These rooms can be used individually or interlinked to create a large hire space.

Can I hold a dinner there?

On the first floor there is a large special exhibitions space, measuring nearly 500 square metres, which can be utilised for a range of events from dinners and receptions to conferences and training. This space can be partitioned into two separate areas offering great flexibility.

When exciting, special exhibitions occupy part of this space, why not take the opportunity to visit the exhibition and then enjoy a leisurely dinner?

The Hancock Café on the first floor, with views over the landscaped front garden, can also be hired for evening entertaining such as drinks receptions or dinners. There is also an attractive Council room available for hire on the second floor. Lined with Victorian bookcases and boasting stunning views over the city, it makes a unique setting for smaller meetings.

What about catering?

Catering at the The Great North Museum: Hancock is provided by a prestigious in house caterer, Sodexo Prestige.

They have excellent experience in event management and are able to offer you a wide range of menu options ranging from canapés to fine dining.
